ControlNet constrains generation with a structural control branch boundary/geometry control narrows the admissible state trajectory