Reverse replay reconstructs one local graph at a time memory does not scale with trajectory length; recomputation increases wall time