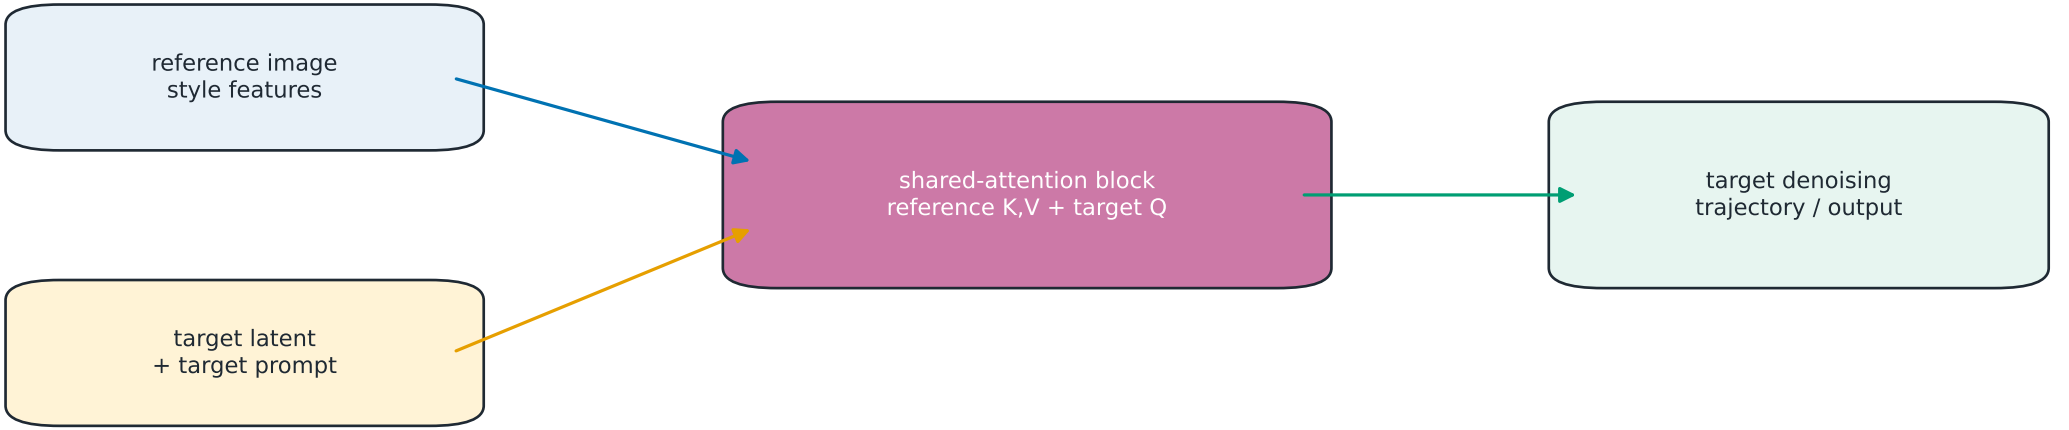
Reference-assisted shared attention



Conceptual routing: shared attention transfers reference features without replacing target content inputs.